Multifunction lockbody with zinc alloy case(American style)

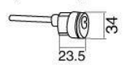

Mutifunction lockbody with sfainless steel case(euro style)

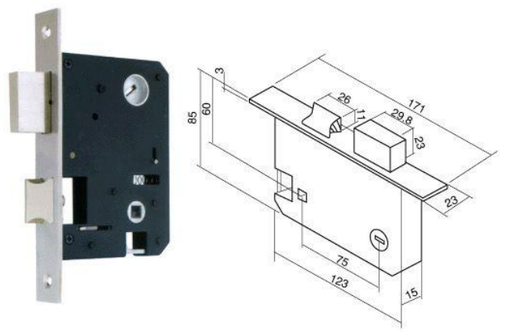

Model: JM ST–02

Cylinder Type

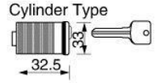

40mm–50mm Door thickness(门厚)

Model: JM ST–01

Cylinder Type

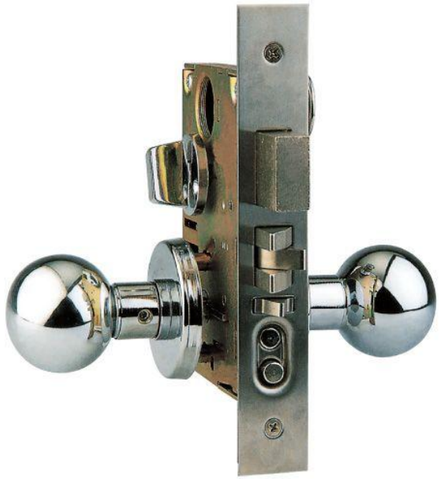

38mm–52mm Door thickness(门厚)

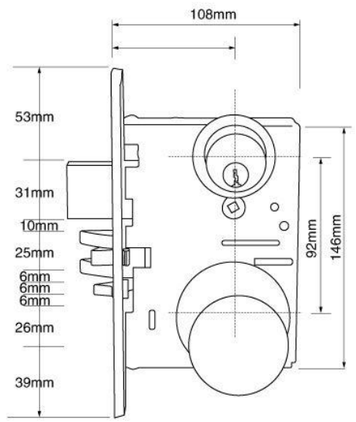

The cylinder of this series of locks fall into two categories,ordinary ones(with transmission rod)and luxurious ones(with spirals). Keys are classified into two models,namely,AB key and computer keys.The AB key is designed using double–row pin cylinder,which has the lowest communicative opening rates among all cylinders. In the normal production process, this kind of cylinder with double–row pin cannot be found to mutually open.
The function of the AB key: B key is especially used for adjusting purposes of the the installation of locks. When the A–key has opened the lock, the B–key becomes useless.
This series of locks are classified into multifunctional,and ordinary ones. The multifunctional lock body is composed of zinc alloy case or stainless steel case.
This series of locks has the feature of the function of swift escape:Under the condition of the latch being shut closed,if emergency occurs，any one in the room can open both the latch and the dead bolt simultaneously,and flee out to life in no time.
